ATTU

We have recaptured American soil - Attu. This event has double significance. One, we can and will beat the Japs. Two, the task is colossal. It took three weeks to capture Attu. The Japanese do not quit. If all fighting Japanese fight that way, we have a man size task. It is, however, humorous to hear Tokyo saying that Attu has never been of any economic or military value! Wonder how the families of the 2000 dead Japanese on Attu feel about that claim?

SUBMARINES

Figures are not available, but one fact is clear: we are whipping the subs. That is great news.

RUSSIA

Two years after Germany attacked Russia, in one week, Russia lost only 118 planes while destroying 456. Germany is now squeezed between two forces, each of which is rapidly coming to equal the might of Germany.

CHINA

As this is written, the Chinese have turned back the invaders. In one day, the Allies knocked out 23 Jap planes. This is a good tonic to 130 million Americans who want China to win.

ITALY

Do you remember? Il Duce's famous flying son said that it was fun to bomb the Ethiopians! That was some years ago. Now, reaping time has come to Italy. Naples, Sardinia, Pantelleria, Foggia, are being bombed daily. The Allies lost 45 planes, while destroying 450. And that only a beginning!

PRODUCTION

With Mr. Byrnes directing our war mobilization, our production will soon become more colossal. We are now producing two fighting ships every three days, four merchant ships to every one lost, and planes equal to the rest of the world. Yes, the debt is huge. But the end of the war is in sight.

ALASKAN HIGHWAY

In less than eight months, we stretched a one hundred million dollar highway 1630 miles into Alaska. Thus we connected one half million square miles of territory with the rest of the world. And we are closer to Japan. Not so bad!

COMINTERN ENDED

Russia no longer backs world communism. But beware of celebrating the dawn of economic and social peace. Social unrest and change are older than communism. With one generation staggering under two world wars, heavy taxes, inflations, depressions, monopolies, and cartels, the ending of one form of social revolution will not produce economic security and social peace. We still must meet the needs of men.

EXTRA

WASHINGTON, June 4;

At this writing, the whole country is aghast at the deadlock regarding our mines. Will the politicians or the people win? We shall soon see.

NORTH AFRICA, June 4:

Allied war ships have bombarded Pantelleria twice in 24 hours. Does this mean Allied soldiers will soon land there?

A woman had just purchased a postage stamp at a substation. "Must I stick it on myself?" she asked. "Positively not, madam," replied the postal clerk. "It will accomplish much more if you stick it on the envelope."

SATURDAY GAMES

The "Saturday Games" have taken an unexpected turn. The "Wildcats," a team that was already in existence, challenged the partakers in the Saturday Games, and we accepted. The two teams will play on the second and last Saturdays of each month. The Tigers. (that's us) will need a lot more good players in order to beat the Wildcats, so anyone who can play baseball, please come to the North Wayne field every Saturday morning. The mornings that we don't play the Wildcats, we are practicing on our home field. The first game is scheduled for Saturday, May 29th, at 10:00, North Wayne Field.

DON'T KILL RABBITS

This statement may sound like sabotage, but wait, it isn't.

It was found that if "rabbit food" (lettuce, etc.) is sprinkled with a little muddy water, rabbits won't touch it. They must have their food clean.

RADNOR DAY CAMP

Plans have been perfected for the Radnor Day Camp during vacation for children 7 through 12 years of age.

PARENTS' NIGHT

Parents' Night for the seventh and eighth grades was a great success. The exhibit was interesting. The program included Band and Glee Club music, skits, radio plays, and an explanation of "Core." The auditorium was well filled.

Can you figure out this puzzle?

There are three missionaries and three cannibals, all on the same side of a channel. They have one boat which will hold two people at once. All three missionaries can row but only one cannibal can row. How can you get all six of them to the other side of the channel without at any time, leaving more cannibals on either side than missionaries, or the cannibals will eat the missionaries.

Thanks to Mr. George Mitchell, Social Studies teacher at Radnor High School.

STORY - STICK PEOPLE

The Escape and Recapture of the Outlaws

It was twelve o'clock on a dark, gloomy, night and no-one saw a band of men sneak up to the jail house, hit the guard over the head, and let five men out of jail. After that the men left as quietly as they had come. The town knew nothing of this till the next morning.

Capture and Jimmy were just eating their breakfast when the deputy told them about it. Immediately after breakfast Capture and Jimmy set out on the trail of the bandits. They rode all day and had seen no trace of the outlaws; but suddenly they heard a call for help. They rode in the direction of the call and finally came to a place where they could tell a camp had been, quite recently. The call was repeated -- closer this time, in a desperate, frightened voice. Capture and Jimmy rode hard until they caught sight of a cloud of dust ahead. They rode just fast enough to keep it in sight. Finally, as night came on, they crept closer and saw a band of outlaws making camp for the night. They had a prisoner with them.

As soon as it was dark, they sneaked into the camp and set the prisoner free, and took him out of the camp. Then they discovered that he was a deputy who had followed them, hoping to help. Capture and Jimmy knew there were too many outlaws for them to take single handed, so they decided to play a trick on them. They gathered sticks about as tall as they were, and stood them up at regular intervals around the camp, leaving three spaces open for themselves. When everything was ready, Capture called out in a loud voice, "Surrender or we'll fire!"

The outlaws, thinking all of the sticks were men, surrendered at once. Then Capture, Jimmy, and the deputy, marched them all back to town and put them in jail under double guard.

THE PERFECT CRIME

by Leroy Martin

"I committed the perfect crime."

"Yeah?" I said. Then what are you doing in the death house?"

"That's the story. I was in love with a married woman and her husband wouldn't give her a divorce. I knew I had to kill him and also my chances of getting away with it were about a thousand to one. Everybody knew we were enemies. My only chance was to figure out the perfect crime."

"There's never been one," I reminded him.

He shook his head. "This was one. I planned it for month's ahead. At the races one day. I saw some newspaper photographers taking pictures of people. I found out just how they worked.

Each day he would take snapshots hit and miss. After the fourth race he'd go back to his paper and turn in the plates in time to make the morning editions. I spent the next few days looking through second hand stores until I found an exact duplicate of his camera, which I bought.

"The man I was planning to kill was a writer. I found out that every afternoon from two to six he sat by the open window at his typewriter.

"The day before the murder I went to the races and got a kid to snap my picture with the crown as a background.

"The day of the murder I drove out to the races early and when no-one was looking, I slipped the plate into a photographer's bag. Then I drove back to town and entered the building in which my victim was.

"I walked the twelve flights, crossed the roof as I had planned until I reached his window. Taking a dagger from my pocket, I could see the top of his head above the sill. He was putting a piece of paper in his typewriter when I stabbed him."

"Did your alibi stand?"

"I never had to use it."

"Oh, then they got you anyway," I said.

"No, they never got me."

"Then what are you doing here?" I growled.

"I killed the wrong man!"

"What does that have to do with it. If they didn't get you, what are you doing here?"

"I killed the right man the next day."

Major Leagues

Nearly everybody's predictions seem to be turning out differently than was expected. With the good teams as well as the bad teams losing players, the team predicted to end last may end in the first division, and vice-versa. We are publishing our again changed predictions of the final standings:

AMERICAN LEAGUE

- New York Yankees
- Cleveland Indians
- Detroit Tigers
- Washington Senators

PHILADELPHIA ATHLETICS

- St. Louis Browns
- Boston Red Sox
- Chicago White Sox

NATIONAL LEAGUE

- St. Louis Cardinals
- Brooklyn Dodgers
- Cincinnati Reds
- Pittsburgh Pirates

PHILADELPHIA PHILLIES

- Boston Braves
- Chicago Cubs
- New York Giants

The present Major League standings are:

AMERICAN LEAGUE

	W.	L.	G.	G.B.*
Cleveland	17	13	-
Washington	17	13	-
New York	15	12	$\frac{1}{2}$
ATHLETICS	16	15	$1\frac{1}{2}$
Detroit	14	13	$1\frac{1}{2}$
St. Louis	10	14	4
Chicago	10	14	4
Boston	13	18	$4\frac{1}{2}$

NATIONAL LEAGUE

	W.	L.	G.	G.B.*
Brooklyn	22	11	-
St. Louis	19	11	$1\frac{1}{2}$
Boston	15	12	4
PHILLIES	15	15	$5\frac{1}{2}$
Cincinnati	15	16	6
Pittsburgh	12	16	$7\frac{1}{2}$
New York	14	18	$7\frac{1}{2}$
Chicago	9	22	12

These standings are as of May 28th.

*G.B. Stands for the games behind the leader.

GOOD AND BAD ALIKE

The teams in both leagues are certainly not doing what was expected of them. The predicted seventh and eighth place (Con'd top next column.)

teams of each league are now in the first division. The Athletics and Senators, who were supposed to fight for last place in the American League, are in fourth and second places, respectively. The Phillies and Braves are in fourth and third, respectively.

The St. Louis Browns and the Chicago Cubs are certainly surprising. They were expected to be stiff pennant contenders but just now they are holding down sixth and eighth places, respectively, in two leagues.

The Chicago Cubs so far this year have played the Phillies eight times, losing seven of them. The Browns have played the Athletics seven times and lost five.

THE MINOR LEAGUES

The International League is somewhat a runaway just now. With Toronto three and a half games ahead of the second place Montreal, it looks as if the Newark Bears, last year's winner, will be dethroned this year.

In the Southern Association Nashville is leading by one half game over Birmingham. Chattanooga is running third, two games out of first place.

Los Angeles is burning up the Pacific Coast League with San Francisco seven games behind them in second place.

Indianapolis is heading the American Association with Toledo $2\frac{1}{2}$ Games in second place.

DO YOU BELIEVE IT?

Texas is the first state in area, it's 267,000 square miles being greater than any country in Europe except Russia, the territorial giant among nations.

New York is the first state in population it's thirteen and a half million inhabitants consisting one tenth of all the people in the United States.

There are 24,000,000 children under 10 in the U. S. That's a lotta kids!

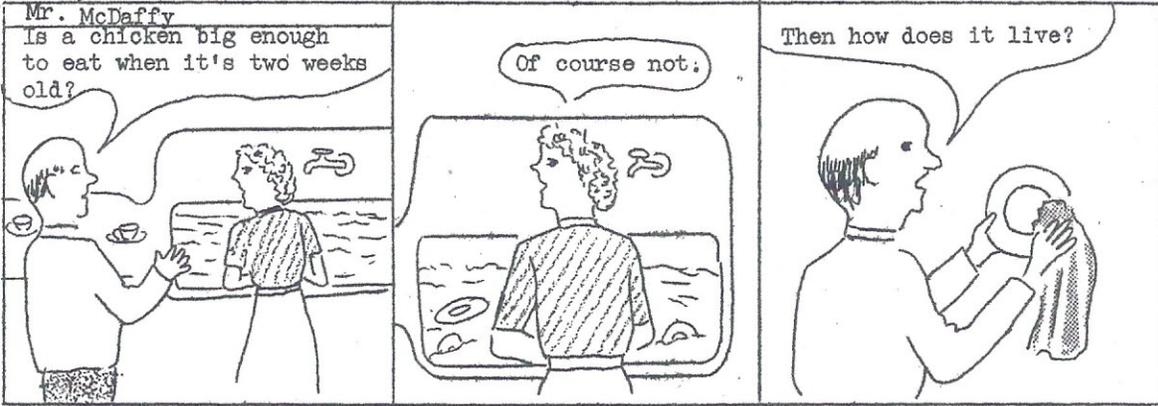

ANYWAY, IT SOUNDS KIND OF FAMILIAR

It remained for an absent-minded linotype operator on a Florida newspaper to put the finishing touches on the old saying that when women get together there is much speaking. When the operator made a mistake, he diddled a few keys in the usual manner until the line of type was filled out to the end. He meant to take out the spoiled line but forgot. Local readers were highly diverted to read:

"The missionary society met Tuesday at the home of Mrs. --. After a covered dish dinner, they spent the afternoon: sbzz-zz-zbzz-z."

AROUND THE BREAKFAST TABLE

Game - Crossed and Uncrossed

After breakfast we are sitting about informally. Glen begins it. He is the only one who is "wise" to it. He passes a pair of scissors to the right saying, "I pass the scissors crossed," or, "I pass the scissors uncrossed." The statement does not depend on whether the scissors are open or closed but on whether Glen's legs are crossed or not. The other unsuspecting members of the family remain baffled for a long time, thinking Glen's words have something to do with what he is passing...They "solve" the trick a dozen times before they really have it. They are surprised when they are told they are right, and then dismayed when, as the scissors come around again, they pass them in the same way as the previous round and are told that they are wrong.

Finally Glen may have to give away the secret by very ostentatiously crossing or uncrossing his long, lanky legs as he passes the scissors on. To complicate matters Glen may say when the scissors are passed to him, "I receive the scissors crossed," or, "I receive the scissors uncrossed." Of course he still uses the words crossed or uncrossed when he passes the scissors on.

Small boy: Pop, tell me one thing.
 Father: What is it, son?
 Boy: Are sheets of water what they cover the beds of rivers with?

A local defense volunteer in a lonely spot cried, "Halt!" to a man in a car, who promptly halted.
 "Halt!" said the L. D. V. again.
 "I have halted," said the motorist.
 "What do you want me to do next?"
 "I don't know," said the L. D. V.
 "My orders are to say 'Halt,' three times and then shoot."
