PRIME MINISTER SPEAKS

It is news when the Prime Minister of England speaks. Another Prime Minister spoke last week. And if the American public had really heard him, it would have been news of the first importance.

This time it was the Prime Minister of Portugal. He gave an interview to one of our American news-gatherers. This gentleman is said to be one of the wisest and ablest men in Europe.

In essence, this is his message. World leadership has now passed from Britain to the U. S. A. That Europe will not trust Britain, for the reason that she is too bound up with imperialism. Nor can Europe follow Russia or Germany. That America is now irrevocably bound up with the interests and welfare of Europe and the world. Now, is America ready for this task? It will require more than a big navy. But there is no turning back. We need to train world leaders for war.

CLOSER TO TOKYO

Watch Vladivostok! The recent conferences have bound Russia more closely to the Allies. Air bases may be in the making where we need them most. From Vladivostok to Tokyo is no farther than from London to Berlin. Wishful thinking?

GERMANY BLOCKADED

Everyone is thinking in terms of recent conferences. It is the same if we think in terms of a blockaded Germany. For it means just exactly that.

In World War one, Germany was completely surrounded by enemies. Defeat was sure, unless she could break out. She never did. Hitler sought to save himself this time by joining with Russia. Then he himself ruined it by attacking Russia. He tried to break out south through Africa, and southeast by way of Turkey. The last possible way of escape has now been closed. For Turkey is now on our side.

Yes, Germany's doom is sealed. Only a series of "new weapons" and miraculous moves could save Germany. The one question yet-unanswered is-how long will she hold on and at what tragic, insane cost to all concerned? But this much is sure-the end of the war is in sight. And that is good news.

EXTRA

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9. The battle of the Atlantic is going well. Word has just been given out that in Nov. Allied shipping losses were the lightest and German "U" boats sunk were the heaviest since May. Many people have felt that we should be slow to rejoice in reports like this one; that perhaps Germany is amassing great power for an all-out assault in the Atlantic and on all other fronts. It is safe to believe that Germany is doing about all she can now.

WITH THE ALLIED ARMIES IN ITALY, Dec. 9. Our armies have broken Germany's winter lines in Italy. We are now moving toward Rome, 75 miles away. Better weather and roads make the going easier for our men.

SPORTS - On the North Wayne Field Sunday, Dec. 5, Den 4 again beat Den 1, this time 42 to 24. In the first quarter, just as in the last game, Den 1 led by the score of 12-6. Here is the score by quarters:

	1	2	3	4	T.
Den 1	12	0	6	6	24
Den 4	6	12	18	6	42

FILLERS

Teacher: George, give me a sentence which includes the word "fascinate".

George: (after deep thought) My father has a coat with ten buttons on it but he can only fascinate.

When asked by the resident why he had drilled two holes to put one pipe through, the plumber answered: "well, I drilled the first hole too small so I had to drill another."

A pupil was asked what he would do if he inherited $500,000. He said he would bribe the teachers to pass him. (What would he do with the other $499,999.95?)

Better than expected

Radnor 20; Friend's Central 0
Spirited by its victory last week, Radnor scored its second victory and first shutout. Spencer, Knudsen, and Aigeldinger all scored for Radnor. Spencer made a beautiful catch of a pass over his head while falling headfirst into the end-zone, thus scoring the first touchdown. Chuck DeRico converted twice.

THE KING'S BIRTHDAY
by H. B. McCracken
When wise men saw His star
in days gone by,
They brought their gifts and
laid them at His feet.
The richest gold and frank-
incense and myrrh
And perfumes from the orient
rare and sweet.

Though years have passed, the star of Christ shines on;
Still sing the angels,
"Peace, good will to men;"
There yet are those who
follow that star's light,
And in their hearts His song
is sung again.

And on this day, the birth-
day of the king,
I have no better wish for
you, my friends,
Than your heart so filled
with love will sing
The angel's song of "Peace,
good will to men."

Radnor 7; Abington 0.
It was a game marked by fumbles, with Aigeldinger making the only score in the second period. De Rico converted, and later tried a field goal, failing.

Lower Merion 6; Radnor 0.
This was a very close game, Lower Merion winning in the last 23 seconds on a 23 yard pass and a lateral with Moretzshon taking the lateral and running the remaining distance untouched. Radnor completely outplayed L. M. for the first three quarters getting inside the one yard line three times.

STORY - The Hermit

There once lived a man who was very unhappy. As a child his family was poor and his mother was often sick. When he was thirteen years old his father died and he had to quit school and go to work in a shop. The man he worked for was cruel to him, taking advantage of the fact that he had no father to protect him. When he grew up his condition was no better. Always it seemed he worked for selfish, wicked people. He became very bitter toward the world in general. Now, as an old man, he looked at the world with disapproving eyes.

For a long time he had watched the evil in the world increasing, almost from day to day, it seemed to him. He had wondered many times how God could allow the world to stand with so much of evil in it, thinking, "If I, being only a man, dislike the evil so much, how can God, being so pure, let the world stand in so much corruption? Why does He not destroy it?"

Then he made a vow. He would withdraw to a cave and live there so that he would not be forced to see the evil world. He also determined to stretch out his hand and hold it so until God destroyed this world.

He became a hermit. He moved into his cave and stretched out his hand. As he stood waiting for God to destroy the world, two little birds came and sat upon his outstretched hand. The birds went about their usual daily living, building a nest, warm and secure. Soon there were eggs in the nest, and before long, three little birds were clamoring to be fed.

As the birds nestled in the palm of his hand, the hermit became more and more interested in them, in their joy of living. He thought less and less about the cruelty and evil in the outside world.

One day as he was holding the birds so lovingly, the thought came to him, "Perhaps this is the way God feels about the world. Perhaps He holds the world in the hollow of His hand and cannot destroy it because He loves it so."

And so the hermit went back into the world holding out his hand to help, instead of as a demand for God to destroy.

Joy to the world, the Lord is come;
Let earth receive her King.

Let every heart; Prepare Him room,
And Heaven and nature sing.

Time flies! How many times have you said that old proverb? I know I have said in many times in the last year and that proverb has proved true. Yes, the Bowls are here again. Only four of the Bowls have had both teams named. Orange Bowl, Miami Florida, Louisiana St. vs Texas A. & M. Sugar Bowl, New Orleans Louisiana. Georgia Tech vs. Tulsa. Grape Bowl, San Francisco California, College of the Pacific vs. Colorado College. Cotton Bowl, Dallas Texas. Texas U. vs. Randolph Field. In the Rose Bowl, Pasadena California, Southern Cal. vs. unnamed opponent.

Here are the scores of the last games of Radnor's season:
 Radnor 20; Friends C. 0

 For complete write-ups see Wayne News, Page 2.

Week before last there was a Cub football game between Den 1 and Den 4 with Den 4 coming from behind to win. Den 4 kicked-off to Den 1. On the first down the Den 4 center recovered a Den 1 fumble, but after three downs Den 4 was forced to kick. The field was 70 yards long. After the punt Den 1 took over on approximately their 10 yard line. From there they drove steadily on 4 quarter back sneaks to a touchdown. They kicked-off to Den 1 at the start the second quarter, Den 1 driving to a touchdown, and that is the way the score stayed until the third quarter, when a blocked kick and a pass from the Den 4 left half back to the quarter-back produced scores.

The game ended as Den 4 pushed to Den 1's 1 foot line. The final score was Den 4 18: Den 1 6.

EDITORIAL - Work For All
 by W. W. Adams

One can take one's choice as to the way to live out these breath-taking days. One can become and remain moody, grieving over the destruction, the losses, the sorrow, that smash the swift-moving events of these days. Or one can become calloused, dismissing the whole sorry mess from one's thinking. Or one may become absorbed in the one objective of getting all the material gain possible, while money is in free circulation.

Or, once more, one may get the larger vision of what lies ahead, and begin to plan to play the largest possible role in the world of tomorrow. The opportunity to serve in that world of tomorrow will concern itself, first with bringing immediate relief to the homeless, hungry, destitute millions. For example, it is estimated that the hungry, those who will need food at once, will include 83 million Chinese, 80 million Indians, 50 million Germans, 50 million peoples of Western Europe, and 50 millions of Poles and Russians - over 300 millions all together. Where can food for that many people be found? And how can it be shipped and delivered to the people? This would aggregate more than 100 million tons, if we include medical supplies, etc., that will be needed. Here is a chance for all to do their utmost in producing and distributing that which humanity needs.

There is a thrill in being creative, in producing and sharing. This is true especially of Americans. We have no room today for lazy, sullen Americans.

Then there's the woman who confided at her club that her husband's average income was about midnight.

Alexander McDaffy! Do you remember what day this is?

Of course, my dear. It's our wedding anniversary.

It is no such thing. It's the day you promised to nail the leg on that old kitchen table.

AROUND THE BREAKFAST TABLE

GAME - Tea-Kettle

Patsy says sweetly, "I saw such a tea-kettle little tea-kettle at the zoo yesterday." Letha, who has been keeping house of late, says, "Tea-kettle me, potatoes are so tea-kettle these days." Unusual Elsie says, "Tea-kettle meat is so tea-kettle to my heart."

These ladies, and, of course, the men with them, chatter on in this game called Tea-kettle, while Fritz tries to guess for what word tea-kettle is a substitute. He was temporarily ostracized while the party decided on the word - which you probably have guessed. Tea-kettle was a substitute for both dear and deer.

Any words which are pronounced alike are usable: bore, boar; rain, reign, rein; plane, plain; by, bye, buy.

- From "The Life of the Party" by F. Menaker and F. Folsom.
